ABOUT MYSELF

I am a fourth-year Information Systems student at SDU University, passionate about mobile app development, particularly within the iOS ecosystem.

I've participated in two "Work & Travel" (2022, 2023) programs in the US, where I developed strong problem-solving, communication, and teamwork abilities. I thrive on responsibility, being reliable, and helping others succeed, which is reflected in my active support for friends during their application process for similar programs.

I'm constantly learning and exploring new technologies, eager to contribute and grow as an iOS developer.
